A binary option is a financial exotic option in which the payoff is either some fixed monetary amount or nothing at all. The two main types of binary options are the cash-or-nothing binary option and the asset-or-nothing binary option. The former pays some fixed amount of cash if the option expires in-the-money while the latter pays the value of the underlying security. They are also called ...

MysteriousFool writes... I looked around and someone recommended to invest in Exchange traded funds. What do you think. I'm not entirely sure why you'd want to invest solely into (emerging market/global) ETF's, especially considering that Australian equities have one of the best risk/return performances and Australia has one of the highest interest rates available.
