A database is an organized collection of data, generally stored and accessed electronically from a computer system. Where databases are more complex they are often developed using formal design and modeling techniques.. The database management system (DBMS) is the software that interacts with end users, applications, and the database itself to capture and analyze the data.

CS-102 Logical Organization of Computers . Aims There are two views of computer architecture. The traditional view, dating back to the IBM System/360 from the early 1960's, is that the architecture of a computer is the programmer-visible view of the machine, while its implementation is the province of the hardware designer.

Systems theory is the interdisciplinary study of systems. A system is a cohesive conglomeration of interrelated and interdependent parts that is either natural or man-made. Every system is delineated by its spatial and temporal boundaries, surrounded and influenced by its environment, described by its structure and purpose or nature and expressed in its functioning.
